Trastevere is one of the oldest and most characteristic neighborhoods of the Capital. Called by trans tiberim (beyond the Tiber) was in antiquity popular and multiethnic neighborhood, rich in markets and crafts and commercial activities. Throughout the centuries the neighborhood has preserved and passed on all the tradition of roman folklore, still retaining its original aspect of the hamlet, characterized by ancient streets, splendid churches, squares and historic taverns where to enjoy secular culinary tradition of the city.

Thanks to its timeless charm, Trastevere is today a popular district of the roman movida, the favorite place for artists and intellectuals, destination for tourists, abandoned by the beauty of its colors, smells and sounds.

The VOI Donna Camilla Savelli Hotel is housed in a historic convent designed by the famous baroque architect Francesco Borromini - born in Switzerland in 1599 - a rival of Gian Lorenzo Bernini and one of the major interpreters of the seventeenth century roman, with a brilliant and tormented personality.

EXECUTIVE ROOMS

The EXECUTIVE ROOMS, made from ancient monastic cells, are embellished with classic décor, with antique furniture and feature exposed beams.

An elegant and refined style, with light and relaxing tones, where the choice of soft colors like ivory, white and green or red and bordeaux tones gives an atmosphere of romantic relax.

RESTAURANT

At “Il Ferro e il Fuoco” Restaurant guests will find traditional gastronomic cuisine with a touch of innovation, with the curious and original Reinassance Tasting Menu: it offers a visual, olfactory and tasting experience that is complete and above all, authentic.
