

Luxury in Vienna - enjoy and discover in exclusive style

The Vienna Tourist Board is your point of contact to the luxury, business and leisure travel industries in Vienna. Whether you are looking for unique cultural experiences, luxury hotels, imperial or contemporary meeting venues, restaurant suggestions or private transfers and guides, we are happy to be of assistance.

Presidential suites and butler service in the finest five-star hotels, champagne glasses made by former purveyors to the imperial court, an evening meal in a world-class Michelin-starred restaurant and shopping for the latest fashions in the old town – Vienna's luxury segment is brimming with highlights for traditional and contemporary tastes alike.

Vienna has a host of surprises for bon vivants and all those who prefer the more tasteful things in life. And it would not be Vienna if the extravagance was not accompanied by a hint of the city's typical charm: exclusive and private insights at museums and galleries, purchasing art at auctions in a palace, listening to world-class music performances by well-known orchestras in imperial venues and opera houses, shopping in the flagship stores of international luxury brands or at the former imperial and royal court purveyors, dining in a gourmet restaurant honoured by the Michelin Guide or enjoying traditional Viennese cuisine – Vienna offers many possibilities for the luxury-pampered guest. These experiences are rounded off with excellent all-round attention in a luxury Viennese hotel.

Are you planning a conference, a congress or an incentive? As the host of more than 4.500 events a year, Vienna is one of the most popular meetings destinations anywhere in the world. The city's location in the heart of Europe, excellent infrastructure and exceptional 'livability' are among its many strengths. Vienna's venues offer an impressive variety: former industrial buildings, historic city palaces, museums, artists' studios, concert halls, clubs and space at various university buildings can be hired for unforgettable events. There are also countless opportunities for networking and boosting motivation among participants beyond the city's meeting rooms. The options are seemingly endless – and in many cases quintessentially Viennese.

We are looking forward to working with you!

Vienna. Now. Forever
